While the essay attempts some structure, the transitions between ideas are weak and the overall flow is disjointed. Paragraphs lack a clear internal structure.

Overall Summary

This essay is a weak attempt that fails to meet the basic requirements of a CSS essay. The lack of a clear thesis, insufficient depth of analysis, poor structure, and inadequate word count all contribute to its low score. The language is acceptable but lacks the precision and sophistication expected at this level. The essay needs significant revision before meeting CSS standards. Consider narrowing the topic drastically and building a clear, well-supported argument.
